

KATHLEEN SIMS, D.D.,C.H.T.
BIOGRAPHY

Kathleen Sims, D.D., C.H.T. has been a motivational speaker and seminar leader for those interested in self discovery and transformation for the past 30 years.

Kathleen has been an Advisory Member to John F. Kennedy University's School of Leadership and Management, specializing in Organizational Transformation. She taught a class on this subject at JFK and was voted the best teacher in that Dept. by the students. She has also contributed to this University through being a speaker at the graduation of students in the Psychology and Consciousness Studies Depts.

In Pleasant Hill, Kathleen is Co-Director of the 'Center for Conscious Living', where her private practice, 'The Center of Conscious Relationship', is located, In her work as a spiritual counselor, teacher, transpersonal hypnotherapist, and healer, she is a catalyst for deep change through private sessions and transformational workshops. Drawing both, from her knowledge gained from 22 diverse Healing and Counseling Certification Programs, and her astute study at the University of Science and Philosophy, she is able to empower individuals, specializing in teaching people to live a Conscious Life Reflectiing their Dreams.

She considers herself very blessed by becoming Certified through EAGALA - Equine Assisted Growth and Learning Association - combining her Transformational Life Work - counseling/therapy, and seminars, with her expertise and love of horses. Using responses metaphorical, between a client (on the ground), and a horse, together doing particular processes, she has witnessed profound and lasting changes occur.
